Please join the Chamber Music Society of Central Virginia this season for some spectacular chamber music experiences. In December, you will be able to hear Baroque music performed on period instruments in a strikingly modern setting with astounding acoustics, as well as the 18th century Wilton House. In February, the award-winning Biava String Quartet performs Haydn and Brahms in the former home of Richmond's famous novelist, Ellen Glasgow. And in April, we present the 2010 Richmond Festival of Music, a full week of concerts and events celebrating the music of two Romantic icons, Johannes Brahms and Antonin Dvořák. All of our concerts provide the opportunity to hear fabulous music for small ensembles in intimate and unusual settings – the way chamber music should be heard.
